Public Employees Standing for Election

- State public sector employees may nominate but must take leave of absence for the election period commencing on the first working day after nomination. The Electoral Regulations authorise public employees to apply for and take leave and for public employers to grant leave for this period, ER, 28.
- A State employee may be required to resign, by other legislation, before nominating for election. Subject to some conditions, a State employee may be entitled to re-enter public sector employment should he or she not be elected, PSM, s 103, s 104.
- It is recommended that public sector employees considering nominating as a candidate seek independent legal advice if at all unclear about their rights and obligations under their present employment.

This information is supplied for your convenience. The Western Australian Electoral Commission is however, unable to give advice on the interpretation of legislation. It is a candidate's responsibility to ensure that he or she is eligible to stand for membership of State Parliament.
