Note: Amendments to legislation have determined that the quotients are replaced by the average district enrolment which is calculated by dividing the total enrolment by the number of districts in the State. Due to these amendments the total number of districts has increased from 57 to 59 districts. New districts were determined under the 'one vote, one value' principle on 29 October 2007 and these will apply to the next State general election.

* indicates Large District.

Large districts (100,000 km<sup>2</sup> or greater) qualify for a Large District Allowance (LDA). This allowance is calculated by multiplying the square kilometres of the district by 1.5%. The final number, calculated by adding the allowance to the number of electors in the district, must be within a range of 20% less or 10% greater than the average district enrolment.

Note: Amendments to legislation have determined that the quotients are replaced by the average district enrolment which is calculated by dividing the total enrolment by the number of districts in the State. Due to these amendments the total number of districts has increased from 57 to 59 districts. New districts were determined under the 'one vote, one value' principle on 29 October 2007 and these will apply to the next State general election.

Note: Large districts (100,000 km<sup>2</sup> or greater) qualify for a Large District Allowance (LDA). This allowance is calculated by multiplying the square kilometres of the district by 1.5%. The final number, calculated by adding the allowance to the number of electors in the district, must be within a range of 20% less or 10% greater than the average district enrolment.

The quotient for the metropolitan area was previously determined by dividing the total enrolment (number of electors) for that area by the number of districts (34) in that area. Since the 2007 Electoral Distribution, the average district enrolment now applies. This is calculated by dividing the total enrolment for the State by the number of districts in the state. Due to amendments to the legislation, there will be an increase in the number of districts in the State from 57 to 59.

Amendments to legislation determined that large districts (100,000 km<sup>2</sup> or greater) qualified for a Large District Allowance (LDA). This allowance is calculated by multiplying the square kilometres of the district by 1.5%. The final number, calculated by adding the allowance to the number of electors in the district, must be within a range of 20% less or 10% greater than the average district enrolment.
